

About Stark & Wayne

Stark & Wayne is the leading cloud agnostic technology consulting firm, offering: architecture design, implementation, and operations enablement. These services empower enterprises to operate highly available and extensible platforms on their chosen infrastructure.

Stark & Wayne engineers bring years of experience and a strong passion for cloud development and automation. We have the expertise to help your organization maximize the benefits of Cloud Foundry or any type of multi-cloud you might need, on premises or in the public cloud.

Contact

Brett Kennedy
VP Professional Services

M: (716) 998-8632
E: bkennedy@starkandwayne.com

Consulting Services

Stark & Wayne works closely with your company to help you achieve your goals. We are eager to work with anyone who needs help getting their cloud infrastructure and services aligned with their business and technical operations.

Design & Implementation

Stark & Wayne offers support for customers in any phase of their operations. From prototyping to architectural design; from integration and implementation to ongoing operation and maintenance; we can help customers new to cloud environments, such as Cloud Foundry, or established customers who need additional optimization. We are 100 percent focused on designing and implementing a reliable, scalable, and secure platform on your organization's infrastructure.

Application Migration

Using Cloud Foundry, application developers can quickly achieve greater success with just a little extra guidance and experience. Stark & Wayne can help your app developers deploy applications faster than you ever thought possible using languages they already know and love.

Team Augmentation

Stark & Wayne doesn't operate as a standard consulting firm that may drop in, offer some recommendations, and then leave. Our consultants work alongside your team members to solve operational and tactical problems. We work as part of your organization's culture and processes to ensure that your ideas are getting to production in the most efficient way possible. Your organization benefits from the knowledge and expertise of our entire company. "When you get one of us, you get all of us."

Software & Lifecycle Development

Stark & Wayne ensures that your teams are using the best processes and tools to deploy tested developer ideas into production efficiently. We work to optimize methodologies to your organization's infrastructure ecosystem and developer culture. We can also work to convert existing applications and workflows to your new cloud ecosystem.

Support & Training

Our goal during an engagement is to ensure that your organization becomes self-sufficient through existing training modules or even a customized training program for your staff.

Solutions

Platform Management

Stark & Wayne can manage your Cloud Foundry platform with a subscription to our Genesis Enterprise service. We take care of upgrades, maintenance, and provide pro-active health checks on a regular basis to ensure that your platform runs smoothly with minimal downtime.

Platform Operations

Stark & Wayne believes that a well-constructed training program can provide your team of operators the foundation they need to manage your Cloud Foundry platform(s) efficiently and effectively. Our proven experience and system know-how are the basis for the training programs we develop to make your platform operators successful. We understand what operators need and design our training programs accordingly.

Platform Automation

Stark & Wayne runs dozens of production pipelines for our open source software and client projects. We can improve your organization's pipelining to maximize continuous delivery. Learning Concourse CI in a few hours will empower your organization and introduce new efficiencies through automation.

Disaster Recovery

No matter how much you think your application, database, or platform is bulletproof, the possibility that anyone of those can fail still exists. When one or more of them fail, Stark & Wayne can help you recover and get up and running with little downtime.

Runbooks

Each enterprise client has unique requirements for documentation. Stark & Wayne can author and maintain client runbooks that satisfy each client requirement while adhering to compliance and audit standards, financial management responsibilities, and methodical change management practices. These runbooks are designed to be living, digital, dynamic documents instead of using traditional documentation methods.